INTRODUCTION

On behalf of my fellow Board Directors at EUFAMI I am pleased to present our report on EUFAMI's activities and achievements in 2017. As you will see, progress has been made towards meeting EUFAMI's important strategic goals.

Throughout 2017 EUFAMI engaged itself to involve, and to work more closely, with its members. EUFAMI's 25th anniversary and art exhibition were one of the greatest opportunities to co-operate and to share more about the experiences of people affected by mental ill health with a wider audience. Everybody's commitment was strong and evident, resulting in many press articles and posts on social media. Around 37 member organisations in 23 countries created a strong voice for European families affected by mental ill health. Again, some member visits were organized in 2017, and members were asked to provide information and input for some consultations EUFAMI contributed to.

In terms of deepening EUFAMI's influence with key international professional and policy stakeholders, EUFAMI was active in representing the experiences of families to several stakeholders, such as during the conferences and congresses organised by mental health organisations such as the European Psychiatric Association (EPA), World Psychiatric Association (WPA) and Horatio: European Psychiatric Nurses. In addition, EUFAMI provided, and represented, the voice of families, at meetings organised by the European Parliament’s Interest Group on Brain, Mind and Pain and Round Table on Transparency and Ethics, organised by Mental Health Europe.

EUFAMI’s focus lies on improving the lives of families affected by mental ill health. The family view was represented in many projects, such as, for example, PRISM and MENS. 2017 also saw the publication and presentation of The Value of Treatment report to which EUFAMI contributed via the organisation of a members’ focus group to ensure the family perspective was included in the schizophrenia case study.

This year’s World Mental Health Day theme was ‘mental health in the workplace’ and EUFAMI published Caring for Mental Health in the Workplace which helps start conversations about mental health in the work environment, by providing tips for colleagues and for employers. 2017 also saw the publication of Caring for Someone with Depression - Caring for Two? – a brochure aimed at helping carers look after their own mental health while caring for a loved one.

At the end of the year, change came to EUFAMI’s internal management structure when we said warm thanks and goodbye to Aagje Ieven. During the two years of her contract period Aagje made a number of important contributions as EUFAMI Secretary-General, and we wish her well in her future endeavours.

May I end by renewing our thanks and good wishes to all those who connect and collaborate with EUFAMI as members and partners or as individuals. It is always worth remembering that we gain strength by working together.

HPE - Austria

On November 11th, AHA Salzburg (regional member of HPE Austria) invited family members to an all-day psycho-educational seminar. The Seminar was held by Dr Michael Rentrop from the “Rechts der Isar” Clinic (Munich). 35 people participated, and a waiting list was created as 57 had expressed interest. It is hoped that the Seminar will be repeated at a later date. The main topics of the Seminar included vulnerability, making diagnoses and handling medication. All participants agreed that psycho-education for family members should be state of the art and integral part of any treatment in psychiatric hospitals.

AGMI – KIPRODIPSA - Cyprus

AGMI continued its core advocacy work of promoting mental health, raising awareness on mental health issues faced by people affected by them, and their family and carers to different stakeholders and the wider public, calling for their support. AGMI’s campaign for World Mental Health Day was focused primarily on stakeholders such as Ministries of Health and Labour, Welfare and Social Insurance, pertinent government departments, etc., and other NGOs such as employer organizations and trade unions.

FinFami - Finland

FinFami celebrated its 25th anniversary. During the year FinFami’s volunteers were in the spotlight for their remarkable efforts in supporting family members among FinFami and its member associations. In Finland approximately one in four children live in a family dealing with mental illness. The theme of the year was “Child Carers” - children that are living with a mentally ill family member. FinFami highlighted the help and support for the families and children’s needs. FinFami launched drama materials for schools, together with a campaign for children. FinFami also highlighted the stigma mental illness still faces, making it very difficult for families to get timely and reasonable help and support. A voluntary work strategy was approved, and two YouTube videos were produced about FinFami’s experience by experts and Prospect-facilitators. In 2017, FinFami had 12 Prospect-programmes for friends and families with nearly 100 participants.

K.S.D.E.O. “EDRA” - Greece

In 2017, EDRA’s main achievement was the coordination of two large-scale European projects which are co-funded by the European Commission under the Erasmus+ Sport calls: “Mental European Network Of Sport Events” (MENS), a partnership of 17 organisations from 12 EU Member States, aiming to develop strong institutional procedures for the specific contribution of sports to the prevention, therapy and rehabilitation of mental patients at a European level and “European Voluntary Events For Therapy Through Sports” (EVENTS).
A core target of the MENS project was the establishment of a European Network aiming at the conjunction of Mental Health and Sport – ENALMH, which aims to honour the legacy of the two aforementioned projects when those are over by continuing to encourage its members to implement relevant activities and inspire others to do so as well.

EPIONI - Greece

One facet of EPIONI’s activities is the organisation of meetings, aimed at the general public, and especially caregivers of people with a disability or illness. On 19 September 2017 EPIONI held a workshop entitled ‘Caring for Carers’, at the office of the European Parliament in Athens, Greece which was well attended by more than 100 participants.

PEPSAEE - Greece

The Panhellenic Association for Psycho-Social Rehabilitation and Work Integration.

PEPSAEE’s most important activity is the involvement in a project titled “HERO” (Housing: An Educational European Road towards Civil Rights), which was launched in 2017. Six organisations with wide range of experience in mental health and de-institutionalization from a total of 5 EU countries have created a strong consortium with experts in social inclusion actions for people with severe mental illness. The project aims at sharing community-based policies, educational methodologies and best practices on Housing, and at creating quality indicators for the improvement of Housing at EU level. PEP- SAEE hosted the first transnational meeting held from 11th to 13th January in Athens, Greece.

Shine - Ireland

Supporting People Affected by Mental Ill Health

Shine organised a one-day conference in Watford, Ireland: “Perspectives for the professionals, the role of the family in prompting recovery” which brought together a range of professionals, people with self-experience of mental health difficulties, and their relatives, to discuss a number of topics. The conference generated valuable and positive feedback from the participants.

Labyrint-in-Perspectief - the Netherlands

Labyrint-in-Perspectief continued in its endeavours to advocate for the rights of informal caregivers of people suffering from mental ill health who, due to government cuts in mental healthcare, are more heavily burdened than ever before. Labyrint in Perspectief facilitates volunteers in different efforts to support informal caregivers in their own environment and offers telephone emergency services, forums, supports moderators, organises national meetings on various topics, etc.
ŠENT - Slovenia
Slovenian Association for Mental Health

ŠENT worked on the organisation of PROSPECT peer to peer training programme in cooperation with fellow EUFAMI member Ozara Slovenija (National Association for Quality of Life). An equally important activity is the further development of Project Feniks ensuring support and help for people suffering from mental ill health, who will, after their parents pass away, be living on their own. The main objective is to ensure mastery of the necessary skills and competences for leading an independent life in their own home with continuous support (in the environment where they live, work and spend their free time). ŠENT’s aim is to ensure that users with mental health problems are able to stay in a familiar environment after losing their parents/guardians.

Schizofreniförbundet - Sweden

Schizofreniförbundet has refreshed and expanded the PROSPECT peer to peer training programme by reviewing its translation and adding modules for siblings and ageing relatives to the programme. The modules for people with self-experience and health and social care professionals were redesigned into a more accurate pedagogic model. In addition, the project “See The Child” kicked off, with workshops being organised for personnel in social services, law enforcement, schools, etc.

Salud Mental España - Spain

Publication of the “Report on the Condition of Human Rights of People with Mental Disorders in Spain 2016”, elaborated in order to make the various infringements visible, as well as all the achievements and advances in mental health, in Spain. The document denounces the main infringements detected during that year, illustrated with concrete examples and focused on the following human rights: right to equality and non-discrimination, to safety and security in risk situations and humanitarian emergencies, to the protection of personal integrity, to freedom and security, to health and to work and employment. In addition, the special vulnerability of women and children is stressed, by reporting the detected infringements regarding gender violence and bullying, among others. VASK - Switzerland

In 2017, VASK Switzerland carried out many activities with the regional associations: telephone counselling throughout Switzerland, self-help groups, seminars for relatives, film evenings, etc. VASK also offered training for police psychiatrists in dealing with people suffering from mental ill health, and workshops in the nursing schools of Switzerland.

EUFAMI STRATEGY 2016-2018

EUFAMI is a not-for-profit Federation, comprised of national and regional family organisations from across Europe.

Mission

EUFAMI’s mission is to represent all family members of persons affected by severe mental illness at European level so that their rights and interests are recognised and protected.

Vision

EUFAMI’s vision is that every person affected by mental illness and their family members receive the understanding and support they need to participate in their community as he or she chooses, and shares in the social, economic and political rights of that community, without exclusion or discrimination.

Values

The central role and rights of family members in the care and treatment of people with mental ill health should be fully acknowledged and provided for throughout Europe.

Family carers should be acknowledged as equal partners with professional staff and the person with mental ill health in decisions relating to the planning and delivery of treatment and care.

Families and individual family members have a right to choose and define the role they are willing and able to play. This must include the right not to be involved directly with their relative’s care, or to be involved in planning services, campaigning and monitoring services. State mental health care should be adequate to enable family members of people with mental illness to make their choice without regard to any feelings of personal obligation.

Families should not be discriminated against or held responsible legally or financially for their family member directly affected by mental ill health. People with mental illness should be cared for in an appropriate environment and provided with all necessary health and social services.

The needs of all family members for support and understanding should be recognised and fully provided for.

It is the human right of all people with mental illness and their families to share as fully as they can in the opportunities, enjoyments and responsibilities of everyday living.
Aims and Objectives

✶ To support member associations in their efforts to improve standards of treatment, care and quality of life of people with mental illness and their family carers and friends.

✶ To engage in the development of family movements in countries where such movements are currently weak or do not exist.

✶ To involve member associations closely with the development of EUFAMI activities.

✶ To help member associations combine their efforts at regional and European levels and to reach out to promote the aims and objectives of families.

✶ To deepen EUFAMI’s influence and enhance its reputation with key international bodies, clinical associations and healthcare professionals to ensure that the concerns of family carers are always fully recognised.

✶ To lobby European policy makers to continue their efforts to improve mental health and social care services as a human right in each member state so that a more equitable situation will result across the continent.

✶ To campaign for adequate resources to be provided for services and support for people with mental illness and their families.

✶ To identify examples of good practice in the field of mental illness and communicate them appropriately throughout Europe.

✶ To promote and, where appropriate, participate in research into the causes and management of mental illness and its treatment.

✶ To engage in public awareness programmes and campaign for changes in public attitudes so as to help remove stigma and discrimination against people with mental illness and their family carers.

✶ To develop and strengthen partnerships between EUFAMI and other organisations having purposes and objectives which are similar to those pursued by EUFAMI.

✶ In all ways to defend the rights of people with mental illness and their families.

For 2017 EUFAMI had three broad strategic objectives

1. TO EXPAND OUR MEMBERSHIP INTO CENTRAL AND EASTERN EUROPE
2. TO INVOLVE AND SUPPORT ALL OUR MEMBERS MORE CLOSELY
3. TO DEEPEN OUR INFLUENCE WITH KEY INTERNATIONAL AND PROFESSIONAL ORGANISATIONS AND POLICY MAKERS.
Over 100 people turn out to celebrate family carers on EUFAMI’s 25th anniversary art exhibition

EUFAMI celebrated its 25th anniversary between 30 November and 9 December 2017 with an arts exhibition held at the PsycArt gallery in Brussels. The exhibit featured works of art by different artists on the theme of ‘Home’. In total, over 100 visitors attended the opening of the exhibit and showed their support for family carers. The exhibit’s opening provided an opportunity for coming together from across Europe to reflect on progress for family carers over the past 25 years and focus on the road ahead.

Opening the exhibit, Julie Ward MEP touched on various issues including the worrying statistics on male suicide, sexual harassment, closed institutions, and the Mental Health Act in the UK. She also talked about the importance of ‘informal’ events like these as a way to collect best practices, push forward the conversation, and normalise issues connected to mental health and caring for people with mental ill health. “We have to keep mental health on the agenda,” said Mrs Ward, adding “We have to be more vocal, more visible, more out there with different kinds of representations”.

In her speech, EUFAMI President Miia Männikkö focused on the needs of family carers. She made a plea to policy makers across Europe to continue efforts towards desinstitutionalisation, whilst ensuring that carers are adequately supported “with greater work-life balance, better mobile services and financial assistance.”

Tomáš Zdechovský MEP in his video message made the case for parity of esteem of mental health saying “We need to build a society that takes mental health as seriously as physical health, including the rights of informal carers.”
The opening event was crowned by a performance by Belgian artist Sven (unik-id) about his experience of living through a psychotic episode. The accomplished Belgian artist and landscape architect believes it important to communicate about his experiences. “After my recovery I realised that to fight against stigma, you actually need to communicate about it, so people understand what mental disorder is about,” said the artist in an interview with EUFAMI at his home.

As part of the exhibition, EUFAMI staff travelled to visit several artists in their studios and carried out a number of interviews about their life and work. These interviews include the story of the Israeli artist Gil Levy and his “conversation” with great artists from the past, the highly unique story of Belgian artist Gaston Wuestenbergs who has been producing a huge body of exquisite work from his studio “retreat” in the woods, and the emotional highs and lows of the work of Spanish artist María Luisa Melendo who was preselected for the BP portrait award at the National Portrait Gallery in London. She describes her work as “a continuous falling in and out of love (...) to reach a certain essence, when colour is able to go beyond, behind, inside.”

The celebration would not have been possible without the generous donations from a total of 38 artists (including EUFAMI’s founding mother Gusta Frooninckx) from 17 countries who produced 66 artworks for the show. The artworks can be viewed on EUFAMI’s online gallery.

EUFAMI wishes to express its sincere appreciation to all its member organisations for their significant contributions which helped make the arts exhibition a remarkable success.

caretakers must be adequately supported “with greater work-life balance, better mobile services and financial assistance.”
PROJECTS

CARERS ACADEMY

After 2015’s successful first session, the online course “Caring for People with Psychosis and Schizophrenia” developed by King’s College London in collaboration with EUFAMI, was organised again in 2017, following two further successful runs in 2016.

This four-week course explores some of the key issues and questions relevant to a carer who is supporting a relative living with psychosis. It addresses a series of topics aimed at improving understanding of the condition and the impact on the caregiver.

EU-VIORMED

EUFAMI is a partner in the European Study on Violence Risk and Mental Disorders (EU-VIORMED) project. EU-VIORMED is an EU-funded project working on improving and standardising forensic psychiatric care across Europe.

The project will examine best practice in 5 European countries (the UK, Germany, Austria, Poland, and Italy) with a focus on generating new data on violence and self-harm assessment. It will also attempt to formulate recommendations to assist in the planning of services for clinicians, managers, commissioners and politicians.

Complex and controversial ethical concerns surrounding forensic psychiatry will also be addressed. Currently, huge cultural differences remain in what constitutes a severe mental disorder (SMD) and what needs or deserves treatment. This is often aggravated by how SMDs are portrayed in the media.

A kick-off meeting took place from 13 – 15 November in Brescia, Italy.

Caring for two Brochure

EUFAMI developed a guide which is intended to support informal carers in taking care of themselves and taking care of their loved one. It is based on advice from experienced caregivers at EUFAMI.

In the first section, the brochure offers four steps to take good care of yourself. The second section, has three steps on caring for your loved one.

Download the complete brochure from our website.
MENS Project

EUFAMI is partner in the EU Erasmus+ project MENS (Mental health European Network of Sports). Under the leadership of EUFAMI associate member EDRA, this project brings together 17 partners from 12 countries interested in promoting mental health through social inclusion in “every day” activities, in this case sports.

EUFAMI’s role is to lead the work stream on networking, overseeing the mapping of key stakeholders at EU and national levels in each of the EU Member States.

PRISM

PRISM aims to find new treatments for the three most common brain disorders in Europe: Alzheimer’s disease, schizophrenia and major depression. It does so by looking at a symptom these three diseases have in common – social withdrawal – and investigating whether there are biological markers for this symptom which new drugs could target to reduce symptoms and improve quality of life. Social withdrawal feeds stigma, which impacts not just patients but entire families. Tackling social withdrawal therefore has enormous potential for positive impact. EUFAMI contributed to the research protocol, and organised a members’ focus group gathering families’ experiences with symptoms of social withdrawal in schizophrenia. Results of the members’ focus group gathering were presented at the Project AGM held in London.

The PRISM project is funded by IMI JU which receives support from EU H2020 and EFPIA.

VALUE OF TREATMENT

EUFAMI contributed to the in-depth research carried out by the European Brain Council (EBC) on the Value of Treatment (VoT) for brain disorders. Analysis demonstrates that there is a considerable treatment gap in Europe, with only about a third of cases receiving the therapy or medication needed. EBC’s VoT project generates evidence on the socio-economic benefits of healthcare interventions through analysis of case studies in order to work towards closing this treatment gap and developing a workable model of care for brain disorders. EUFAMI organised a members’ focus group to document families’ experiences with their loved ones’ “journey” through services to inform the schizophrenia case study. The full report can be downloaded from the EUFAMI website.

Audited Accounts Commentary

Total operating income in 2017 amounted to 237 478 euros while total expenditure for the year was 235 605 euros. This gave a small arithmetic surplus of just under two thousand euros, effectively balancing the accounts. The outturn halted the decline in our finances resulting from the operating losses of the previous two years and hence stabilised our cash reserves at just over 85 thousand euros.

This must be regarded as a significant achievement in improving our financial position over the year. It reflects a major change in the balance of funding towards greater net income from projects with proportionately less from the traditional sources of corporate donors, supplemented by membership and representational fees and honoraria of various sorts. On the expenditure side the main items remained staff and office costs, financial services and general overheads, plus the separate management costs associated with the projects themselves. The annual cost of running the organisation in support of its core (non-project) activities has continued in the range of 160-180 thousand euros.

The immediate future in 2018 seems likely to see a continuation of the broad experience in 2017 with another break-even budget. Looking further ahead, it has to be recognised that EUFAMI will face the perennial problem for voluntary bodies generally, that of maintaining its finances on a secure and reliable basis over a medium-term perspective. On the income side that must involve a broadly-based fundraising strategy both nurturing relationships with established funders, past and present, and finding new ones with whom such relations can be developed. The expenditure side also requires the sort of well-rounded approach to the monitoring and control of costs, risks and contingencies as well as the search for savings which the Board has agreed and which I set out in my report last year.
The future of EUFAMI: Some General Reflections

As this is my last report as Treasurer following on my earlier contributions as President of EUFAMI I should like to offer some brief thoughts on a possible shift of emphasis in our methods of working to meet the challenges of our mission in the hugely changed circumstances of our existence after 25 years. Adequate resourcing and sound financial management and control procedures are the essential conditions for serving our member associations and all those who look to them. How then should we respond to those challenges in fulfilling our unique role in today’s world and doing so more effectively?

One way would be to join forces with suitable other organisations as a conscious development of our well-established practice of partnership working. The aim would be to create more lasting and committed partners, both operational and financial, as part of an explicit and publicly recognised approach to working in longer term alliances, though without forfeiting our own independent status. Some steps in this direction have already been taken and could be consciously developed further. I believe the idea is worth considering further.

Valedictory

May I conclude on a personal note by expressing my warm thanks to the colleagues I have worked with and the friends I have made during my time with EUFAMI. I wish them all well for the future. As I said at the start it would be an honour and a privilege to serve as a Board Director and as an Officer, and so it has proved to be.

GOVERNANCE

ANNUAL GENERAL MEETING

The Annual General Meeting (AGM) is EUFAMI’s highest decision-making organ. Held once a year, the AGM approves new members and finances, and elects the Board of Directors. The 2017 assembly took place in our “home town” of Leuven on 9th June and elections were held for two Director positions. Eulalia Pereira from ENCONTRAR+SE in Portugal and Kevin Jones from Shine in Ireland were elected to the EUFAMI Board of Directors.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS

EUFAMI is governed by its Board of Directors which meets four times a year. The Board sets out the strategic direction of the organisation and oversees the work of the Secretariat. Our Board of Directors are all non-remunerated volunteers, elected by the Annual General Meeting.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

In June 2017, Connie Magro and John Saunders retired, having reached the end of their third and final term on the Board. John and Connie both joined the (then) EUFAMI Executive Committee in 2008. John held the position of Treasurer for 7 years. Connie was Vice President from 2011 until 2016. We are most thankful to them for their valuable contributions to EUFAMI, both in their capacity of officers on the Board of Directors, but – equally important - as carers, representing EUFAMI on many occasions.
